GATE TO A $5 MILLION PALACE—Through this majestic entrance to The Breakers, one of Newport's most palatial residences, thronged sociables last week from all over the East. The gala ball climaxed the 175th anniversary celebration of Gen. Rochambeau's landing at the Rhode Island port with French troops to aid America's general George Washington in the Revolution.

JUST RELAXING—Seated on the lawn of Mr. Clifton Pell's Newport summer home are, left to right, Mr. S. Walter Washington, who took part in the re-enactment of the historic Washington-Rochambeau meeting; Mme. Couve de Murville, wife of the French Ambassador; Mrs. John Barry Ryan, daughter of the late Otto Kahn and the Couves de Murville's Newport hostess, and Mrs. Thomas Lister of Washington. The occasion was an afternoon cocktail party given by Mr. Pell before the ball for the French envoy and his wife.
